Labor Day Trip

Saturday morning two groups left Indiana for Munfordville, Kentucky where everyone enjoyed the wonderful hospitality of Roger, Cheryl, and Eric with snacks and a birthday cake for Jack Sullivan, Sr. After checking into our hotel at Horse Cave, we went to Mama Lou's, a local favorite, for dinner. That evening the Lincoln Jamboree had great music and humor. Then came the rain, and rain, and more rain. Most agreed the trip back to our hotel was the worst driving conditions they had experienced. But our prayers were answered and we made it back to Horse Cave safe and sound even with Ed and Mary's "free-lance touring".

Sunday morning we went to Glendale for antiquing and lunch. That afternoon Roger lead us down, as Carolyn called it, a memory making road. It was a beautiful drive along the Green River with a view of a Civil War railroad bridge. More country roads led us to Mammoth Cave National Park.

Monday morning we stopped by the Goodman's for a tour of their home. Then it was time to head the Model A's north. Our thanks to Roger and Cheryl for sharing some of their favorite roads and places with us.
